In collaboration with

East San Gabriel Valley Child Abuse Prevention Council

Present the following FREE training:

“Working with Families: Getting Calm & Promoting Development ”

On Thursday, April 9, 2015, 9:30am to 12:30pm.

Registration/Check-in to begin at 9:00am

Location: Pacific Clinics Training Institute, 2471 E. Walnut St., Pasadena CA 91107

Training Objectives: (Based on the Neurorelational Framework (NRF) proposed by Connie Lillas & Janice Turnbull)

1. To identify stress responses and stress recovery using physiological markers in infants and children in their cultural context.
2. To identify the four toxic stress patterns and related developmental consequences.
3. To identify the social emotional milestones and how to assess dyads.

Presenter:

Jessica Richards, MS, MSW, LCSW has over ten years working with children experiencing acute symptoms in a hospital inpatient psychiatric setting, community-based mental health agency and in private practice. She specializes in providing therapeutic services to young children and families. She has a strong background in Child Development, community mental health and child welfare. She is the infant and family mental health specialist on the Fostering Family Partnerships court team pilot in South Central Los Angeles. Jessica is an endorsed Infant-Family and Early Childhood Mental Health Specialist. Jessica has been trained in Child-Parent Psychotherapy, a relationship and play-based therapy with a strong evidence-based foundation for the treatment of trauma and family stressors. Additionally, Jessica uses the Neurorelational Framework (Lillas & Turnbull 2009) for an integrated, neurobiologically informed approach. She has supervised clinical therapists and provides training on a wide variety of topics related to development, infant mental health and trauma.
